

Johnson's Foreign Aid Funds Almost Cut in Committee

President's Insistence on Every Dollar Endangers Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration nearly fumbled its chance for a signal congressional victory on foreign aid funds because of the President's insistence on getting every dollar of the $3.5 billion he asked for.

That is the assessment of an informant who was privy to every twist and turn of the closed-door drama this week that for the first time broke Rep. Otto E. Passman's iron-fisted hold on foreign aid funds. The Louisiana Democrat is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign aid.

Not until the last minute, the sources said, did administration leaders realize that a compromise was essential to preserve the bill from Passman's heavier fund-slashing. Even then, the initiative came from another source.

$200 Million

Without agreeing to a minimal $200-million cut by the House Appropriations Committee—the parent group of Passman's subcommittee—the administration forces "would have been rolled out good in the committee and they would have been rolled on the House floor too," one of the sources said.

It was hailed as a smashing victory not only for President Johnson, but for Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., who recently became chairman of the committee after the death of Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo.

Passman still has a chance to get his big $519-million cut approved on the House floor next week, and he is expected to pull out all the stops to do it. Regardless of that outcome, his power as chairman of the subcommittee has been broken for the first time in the nine years he has been in the driver's seat. Thus, the sources predicted, "things will never be the same."

Down Copter In Viet Nam; 2 Pilots Die

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army aviators were killed Friday when their armed helicopter was shot down in flames in the Mekong delta.

A Vietnamese observer was also killed. Two American gunners were wounded.

The helicopter was shot down during a major assault in Vinh Binh Province 50 miles southwest of Saigon which Vietnamese sources proclaimed a success.

The two American deaths bring the total U.S. combat losses in Viet Nam to 148.

The helicopter was flying support for units being airborne into action nine miles from the provincial center of Tra Vinh. Other helicopters landed near it and recovered weapons and radio on board it before destroying it.

The two wounded Americans were flown to a Saigon hospital.

Three Probes Being Held in Truck's Blast

Several Buildings Leveled; Damage Estimate $500,000

MARSHALLS CREEK, Pa. (AP) — Three investigations were under way today into the explosion of a tractor-trailer that killed six persons and leveled several buildings, causing damage estimated at more than a half-million dollars.

Dist. Atty. James P. Marsh of Monroe County in this Pocono Mountain resort area, said his office is investigating because there are "lots and lots of loose ends."

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission also were conducting probes of the pre-dawn blast Friday that blew out windows as far as 10 miles away in Stroudsburg.

Soldiers guarded damaged homes against looting. Others pressed a hunt for poisonous snakes that escaped when the explosion wrecked a roadside reptile farm.

The big tractor-trailer, bound from Pottsville, Pa., to Forest Dale, N.Y., was loaded with 15 tons of dynamite and explosive chemicals used for quarry blasting. It rolled to a stop on the parking lot of the Pocono Reptile Farm, a tourist attraction, after two of its rear tires blew out.

Firemen from this tiny community were reaching for chemical foam to fight a fire in the wheels when the truck exploded.

Three firemen were killed. Also dead were three persons who had come to watch firemen in action. Ten were injured.

State police questioned the truck driver, Albert Koda, 51, of Port Carbon, Pa., for many hours. Koda said he left the trailer and drove the tractor to a service station where he telephoned his boss to report the blowouts.

State police said he denied that the tires were burning when he drove off, or that he summoned firemen.

Most of the 150 snakes kept in glass and wire cages had been accounted for long before nightfall Friday.

Hill People Asked to Seek Clues

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)

—With a personal appeal from the governor to people of this hill country "to search your own premises," the search continued today for three civil rights workers who mysteriously vanished six days ago.

"Take a few hours of your own time to search for clues," Gov. Paul B. Johnson said in a broadcast from a local radio station.

Johnson came to Philadelphia late Friday as state and federal officers—joined by 100 U.S. sailors—again fought off snakes and insects while wading through swamps in their fruitless search for the trio.

Earlier, former CIA Director Allen Dulles had recommended to President Johnson that the FBI's role against "terroristic activity" in Mississippi be expanded.

Dulles' Report

Dulles met Friday with the President to report on his two-day White House mission to Mississippi. The President and Dulles conferred by long-distance telephone with Gov. Johnson during the meeting.

Gov. Johnson, referring to the disappearance as the "mysterious missing persons case," called on all residents of Neshoba County—whites, Negroes and Indians—to cooperate in the search.

"I do want to assure the people here that the sailors have come to aid us," Gov. Johnson said. "We're glad to have them. They're fellow Americans."

The sailors are from the nearby Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Meridian.

"We do not know whether these people are alive or dead," Johnson said in his 10-minute radio talk. He expressed confi-

Indictment for U.S. Reds Expected

For Refusal To Register As An Agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is expected to seek pay a $120,000 fine — $10,000 a new indictment soon against each of 11 days past the deadline the U.S. Communist party, which has refused to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

This, it was learned today, is the course most likely to be followed by the Justice Department in reaction to a court decision upholding a 1961 conviction of the party on the same charge.

Government sources indicated the new indictment will be filed this summer—to allow the government to avoid the pitfall which won the Communists' refusal to reconsider the decision. government experts are nearly reversal of the 1961 conviction.

Italians Seek End to Crisis In Government

Prime Minister's Cabinet Resigns In Surprise Move

ROME (AP)—President Antonio Segni began talks with political leaders today, seeking an end to Italy's 25th government crisis since World War II.

The crisis imperiled a solution to Italy's economic problems, including a long stage of inflation and strikes.

Premier Aldo Moro's center-left Cabinet resigned Friday night in a doctrinal split between the Roman Catholic Christian Democrats and their Socialist partners over increased aid to church schools.

Segni asked Moro to stay on while the president consults with other political figures on finding someone to form a new Cabinet.

There was speculation Segni would ask Moro to try again.

The resignation caught the nation by surprise, since the additional aid sought by Moro's Christian Democrats for private schools was less than $240,000.

The Chamber of Deputies rejected the budgetary request by a vote of 228-221 Thursday night, with only Christian Democrats in favor of it. Moro's Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republican partners abstained. The Communists, monarchists and fascists voted against the proposal.

A few Christian Democrats bolted from the government in the secret vote, showing growing dissatisfaction within the party since Moro formed a coalition with the Socialists last Dec. 21. It was the first Cabinet in 17 years in which the Christian Democrats and Socialists were allied.

Actually, the government did not have to resign, since no question of confidence was involved. The Cabinet decided to quit to provide a political "clarification."

Accused Kidnaper Will Remain Few Days in Madison

MADISON (AP) — Margaret Converse, charged with kidnapping an infant girl at Beloit, will remain in a Madison jail a few more days before being transferred to a federal hospital for a mental examination.

U.S. Atty. N.S. Heffernan said Friday that he was awaiting word from the Federal Bureau of Prisons on the transfer and did not expect a directive before the middle of next week.

Miss Converse, a 19-year-old blonde, was committed on Thursday by U.S. District Judge David Rabinowitz to the bureau's jurisdiction for a 90-day examination in institutions at Washington, D.C., or Lexington, Ky.

She is charged with Monday night's kidnapping of 3-month-old Kimberly Jo Wulf of Beloit. The child was returned unharmed to her parents early Thursday after Miss Converse was taken into custody by Beloit police.

3 Teen-Agers Killed In Clark County Crash

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three young people were killed in a two-car crash in Clark County Friday night as Wisconsin's 1964 traffic toll soared to the 453 mark compared with 373 on this date a year ago. Single fatalities were recorded in Outagamie, Milwaukee and Trempealeau counties.

A head-on collision two miles west of Thorp at 11:30 p.m. Friday resulted in the death of Richard Spaeth, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spaeth, route 2, Boyd, one of the drivers.

Judith Bergevin, 15, daughter of Mrs. Allen Johnson, route 2, Stanley, and Ceryl Deutschlander, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deutschlander of Thorp.

Judith was a passenger in the Spaeth car, and the Deutschlander girl was riding in a car driven by Terry Keating, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Keating of Thorp. Terry was hospitalized at Stanley with compound fractures of his right leg and head and face lacerations.

Clark County authorities said witnesses at the scene told them Keating was driving east on County Trunk X and turned out to pass another car, apparently changed his mind and pulled back. In so doing, his car went onto the right shoulder of the road, then careened across the highway into the north lane into the path of the Spaeth car.

Charles Laskell, 19, of Milwaukee died of injuries early today after his motorcycle and an automobile collided at a street intersection on Milwaukee's Northwest Side.

Rammed Car Police said the motorcycle rammed the car broadside as the automobile was making a left turn. A passenger in the car, Joseph Bodwin, 25, was hospitalized with internal injuries.

William A. Gajewski, 67, former mayor of Winona, Minn., and a prominent city businessman, was injured fatally Friday in the collision of his truck and a car just across the Mississippi River from Winona—at the intersection of highways 35 and 54 in Trempealeau County.

State Splits on Transport Bill

Byrnes Cites Added Tax Burden and Debt In Rejecting Measure

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Members of the Wisconsin House delegation has split 4 to 4 in their votes on the estimated $200 million mass transportation bill which was approved 212-189.

Voting for the measure were Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Clement J. Jablocki, Henry S. Reuss and Lester R. Johnson, all Democrats.

Voting against the bill were Republican Reps. Vernon W. Thomson, William K. Van Pelt, Melvin R. Laird and John W. Byrnes.

Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg was absent and Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski answered "present," explaining that he was paired against it.

Supporters of the bill pointed out that with so-called "expanding" population in the urban areas, it is no longer practical or feasible to meet the transportation problem through construction of additional highways and parking lots. In many cities, they pointed out, space for parking lots and widened streets can be obtained only at the cost of disrupting tax-paying residential and commercial areas at an additional cost of relocating thousands of families.

Those opposing the bill point to the fact that it will cause an additional drain on the federal treasury and further increase the national indebtedness.

Congressman Byrnes, Green Bay, deplored the fact that the federal government, through the mass transit bill, not only is adding to the taxpayers' burden, but is further taking over the business and responsibilities of city and county governments.

If you own a roller board (a board with the front and rear wheels of a roller skate attached to it), make yourself a couple of ski sticks to use in guiding yourself and increasing your speed.

Two pieces of broom handle will do nicely for the ski sticks, although any smooth, sturdy sticks of proper length may be used.

To the end of each stick attach a rubber crutch tip (Figure 1). The tip, which fits over the end of the stick, can be held in place firmly with an application of glue.

The sticks may also be used to help you go around corners on the board and as brakes to

Johnson's Foreign Aid Funds Almost Cut in Committee

President's Insistence on Every Dollar Endangers Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sources said, did administration leaders realize that a compromise was essential to preserve the bill from Passman's heavier fund-slashing. Even then, the every dollar of the $3.5 billion he asked for.

That is the assessment of an informant who was privy to every twist and turn of the closed-door drama this week that for the first time broke Rep. Otto E. Passman's iron-fisted hold on foreign aid funds. The Louisiana Democrat is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign aid.

Italians Seek End to Crisis In Government

Prime Minister's Cabinet Resigns In Surprise Move

ROME (AP)—President Antonio Segni began talks with political leaders today, seeking an end to Italy's 25th government crisis since World War II.

The crisis imperiled a solution to Italy's economic problems, including a long siege of inflation and strikes.

Premier Aldo Moro's center-left Cabinet resigned Friday night in a doctrinal split between the Roman Catholic Christian Democrats and their Socialist partners over increased aid to church schools. Segni asked Moro to stay on while the president consults with other political figures on finding someone to form a new Cabinet. There was speculation Segni would ask Moro to try again.

The resignation caught the nation by surprise, since the additional aid sought by Moro's Christian Democrats for private schools was less than $240,000.

The Chamber of Deputies rejected the budgetary request by a vote of 228-221 Thursday night, with only Christian Democrats in favor of it. Moro's Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Republican partners abstained. The Communists, monarchists and fascists voted against the proposal.

A few Christian Democrats bolted from the government in the secret vote, showing growing dissatisfaction within the party since Moro formed a coalition with the Socialists last Dec. 21. It was the first Cabinet in 17 years in which the Christian Democrats and Socialists were allied.

Actually, the government did not have to resign, since no question of confidence was involved. The Cabinet decided to quit to provide a political "clarification."

Down Copter In Viet Nam; 2 Pilots Die

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army aviators were killed Friday when their armed helicopter was shot down in flames in the Mekong delta.

A Vietnamese observer also killed. Two American gunners were wounded.

The helicopter was shot down during a major assault in Vinh Binh Province 50 miles southwest of Saigon which Vietnamese sources proclaimed a success.

The two American deaths bring the total U.S. combat losses in Viet Nam to 148.

The helicopter was flying support for units being airborne into action nine miles from the provincial center of Tra Vinh. Other helicopters landed near it and recovered weapons and radio on board it before destroying the plane.

The two wounded Americans were flown to a Saigon hospital.

Accused Kidnap Will Remain Few Days in Madison

MADISON (AP) — Margaret Converse, charged with kidnaping an infant girl at Beloit, will remain in a Madison jail a few more days before being transferred to a federal hospital for a mental examination.

U.S. Atty. N.S. Heffernan said Friday that he was awaiting word from the Federal Bureau of Prisons on the transfer and did not expect a directive before the middle of next week.

Miss Converse, a 19-year-old blonde, was committed on Thursday by U.S. District Judge David Rabinowitz to the bureau's jurisdiction for a 90-day examination in institutions at Washington, D.C. or Lexington, Ky.

She is charged with Monday night's kidnaping of 3-month-old Kimberly Jo Wolf of Beloit. The child was returned unharmed to her parents early Thursday after Miss Converse was taken into custody by Beloit police.

Three Probes Being Held in Truck's Blast

Several Buildings Leveled; Damage Estimate $500,000

MARSHALLS CREEK, Pa. (AP) — Three investigations were under way today into the explosion of a tractor-trailer that killed six persons and leveled several buildings, causing damage estimated at more than a half-million dollars.

Dist. Atty. James P. Marsh of Monroe County in this Pocono Mountain resort area, said his office is investigating because there are "lots and lots of loose ends."

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission also were conducting probes of the pre-dawn blast Friday that blew out windows as far as 10 miles away in Stroudsburg.

Soldiers guarded damaged homes against looting. Others pressed a hunt for poisonous snakes that escaped when the explosion wrecked a roadside reptile farm.

The big tractor-trailer, bound from Pottsville, Pa., to Forest Dale, N.Y., was loaded with 15 tons of dynamite and explosive chemicals used for quarry blasting. It rolled to a stop on the parking lot of the Pocono Reptile Farm, a tourist attraction, after two of its rear tires blew out.

Firemen from this tiny community were reaching for chemical foam to fight a fire in the wheels when the truck exploded.

Three firemen were killed. Also dead were three persons who had come to watch firemen in action. Ten were injured.

State police questioned the truck driver, Albert Koda, 51, of Port Carbon, Pa., for many hours. Koda said he left the trailer and drove the tractor to a service station where he telephoned his boss to report the blowouts.

State police said he denied that the tires were burning when he drove off, or that he in flames in the Mekong delta.

Most of the 150 snakes kept in glass and wire cages had been accounted for long before nightfall Friday.

Soviet Ambassador On U. S. Motor Tour

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and his wife are on a motor tour of the Rocky Mountain area. They plan to see Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks.

The couple left Spokane, Wash., for Denver in a rented automobile Friday. They said the scenery in the Cascade Mountains, which they went through by rail the day before, was "wonderful."

Conviction Reversed

The U.S. Court of Appeals reversed the conviction last December. A three-judge panel decided that the party officers who should have registered had the constitutional right to protect themselves from self-incrimination. The panel held further that the burden was on the government to prove that there was someone available to voluntarily register the party—someone who would not be concerned with possible self-incrimination.

The government, demanding full-court reconsideration, said the law requires that the party be registered, not that the person who performs the registration be a member of the party.

The government made it clear that it felt the party's use of the Fifth Amendment was a sham. It said the party, through its wide open propaganda program, never has hesitated to be represented in public by its officials, who clearly label themselves members of the party and disregard the possibility of self-incrimination.

Nevertheless, the court re-

Indictment for U.S. Reds Expected

For Refusal To Register As An Agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is expected to seek a new indictment soon against each of 11 days past the deadline, in which the party failed to register, and $10,000 for failing to file a registration statement.

This, it was learned today, is the course most likely to be followed by the Justice Department in reaction to a court decision upsetting a 1961 conviction of the party on the same charge.

Government sources indicated the new indictment will be filed this summer—to allow the government to avoid the pitfall

State Toll Hits 453

3 Teen-Agers Killed In Clark County Crash

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Three young people were killed in a two-car crash in Clark County Friday night as Wisconsin's 1964 traffic toll soared to the 453 mark compared with 373 on this date a year ago. Single fatalities were recorded in Outagamie, Milwaukee and Trempealeau counties.

A head-on collision two miles west of Thorp at 11:30 p.m. Friday resulted in the death of Richard Spaeth, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spaeth, route 2, Boyd, one of the drivers, Judith Bergheim, 15, daughter of Mrs. Allen Johnson, route 2, Stanley, and Cheryl Deutschlander, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deutschlander of Thorp.

Judith was a passenger in the Spaeth car, and the Deutschlander girl was riding in a car

India's Prime Minister Told To Take Rest

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is suffering from what physicians term overstrain and has been ordered to take a complete rest, informed source said today.

Physicians found Shastri was suffering from a slight rise in temperature this morning and ordered all his engagements canceled, the source told reporters.

The physicians put no time limit on the rest period for Shastri but said he must not engage in any official duties for the next few days at least.

Shastri, who was sworn in June 9 as successor to the late Prime Minister Nehru, suffered a heart attack in 1959 but has been reported in good health in recent years.

The job of leading the world's biggest democracy has been a heavy burden on him in the last few weeks, however, and he has looked fatigued.

Fewer Polio Cases In U. S. This Year

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Only 18 states have had cases of polio so far in 1964. William A. Galewski, 67, former mayor of Winona, Minn., and a prominent city businessman, was injured fatally Friday in the collision of his truck and a car just across the Mississippi River from Winona—at the intersection of highways 35 and 54 in Trempealeau County.

Search Intensified for Three Rights Workers

Hill People Asked to Seek Clues

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — With a personal appeal from the governor to people of this hill country "to search your own premises," the search continued today for three civil rights workers who mysteriously vanished six days ago.

"Take a few hours of your own time to search for clues," Gov. Paul B. Johnson said in a broadcast from a local radio station.

Johnson came to Philadelphia late Friday as state and federal officers—joined by 100 U.S. sailors—again fought off snakes and insects while wading through swamps in their fruitless search for the trio.

Earlier, former CIA Director Allen Dulles had recommended to President Johnson that the FBI's role against "terroristic activity" in Mississippi be expanded.

Dulles' Report

Dulles met Friday with the President to report on his two-day White House mission to Mississippi. The President and Dulles conferred by long-distance telephone with Gov. Johnson during the meeting.

Gov. Johnson, referring to the disappearance as the "mysterious missing persons case," called on all residents of Neshoba County—whites, Negroes and Indians—to cooperate in the search.

"I do want to assure the people here that the sailors have come to aid us," Gov. Johnson said. "We're glad to have them. They're fellow Americans."

The sailors are from the nearby Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Meridian.

"We do not know whether these people are alive or dead," Johnson said in his 10-minute radio talk. He expressed confidence.

Khrushchev Is Enroute To Norway

Endorses Swedish Neutrality at End Of Visit There

BY GEORGE SYRTSEN — STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev left for Norway today after winding up his five-day visit here with an endorsement of Swedish neutrality.

Search Intensified for Three Rights Workers

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — With a personal appeal from the governor to people of this hill country "to search your own premises," the search continued today for three civil rights workers who mysteriously vanished six days ago.

"Take a few hours of your own time to search for clues," Gov. Paul B. Johnson said in a broadcast from a local radio station.

Johnson came to Philadelphia late Friday as state and federal officers—joined by 100 U.S. sailors—again fought off snakes and insects while wading through swamps in their fruitless search for the trio.

Earlier, former CIA Director Allen Dulles had recommended to President Johnson that the FBI's role against "terroristic activity" in Mississippi be expanded.

Renk Campaigns On 'Four Big Issues'

GOP Candidate Attacks Proxmire On States' Rights, U. S. Policy

Wilbur Renk told Outagamie County Republican campaign workers today that there are "four big issues" in his U. S. Senate race against Sen. William Proxmire, the incumbent Democrat.

"They are," Renk said, "foreign policy and the communist danger, a big federal government versus states' rights, the Democratic farm depression and the record of our senior senator."

"Proxmire isn't an effective spokesman for our state," Renk, the Sun Prairie farmer, said. He criticized Proxmire for

No State Aid

"He tries to become a conservative once every four years," Renk charged.

Renk also criticized the state's Democratic representation "for getting Wisconsin such a little share of the defense dollar."

"We're getting less than one per cent of the defense spending dollar while California is getting 14 per cent."

Republicans also came in for criticism by Renk.

"A major trouble with Republicans here in Wisconsin," he said, "is that they have spent too much time in the past trying to carve each other up."

"As a delegate to the national Republican convention, I have been getting hundreds of letters telling me who to vote for at the convention. Too many people," Renk said, "have told me that if you don't support my man at the convention, I'm not going to support you."

"Return United"

"When we come back from San Francisco," he said, "we must come back united on one candidate, no matter who he is."

Renk charged that "too many Republicans say the presidential election already is over. Too many things can happen between now and November to tolerate attitudes such as that."

Renk said the civil rights problem will be an issue in the Wisconsin Senate race "not so much in its relation to the Negro problem alone, but in its relation to states' rights. What (Gov. George) Wallace (of Alabama) did in the presidential primary," Renk said, "was to pinpoint the issue of states' rights and the opposition of the people to strong central federal government."

He said the states' rights and civil rights issues may work for GOP candidates in Milwaukee County, "particularly in the 4th Congressional District" (the heavily white - populated south side of Milwaukee).

Renk shook hands this morning at the Thulmany Pulp and Paper Co. plant gate in Kaukauna and later on was a guest at a GOP workers' breakfast at the Conway Hotel.

He spent the rest of the day shaking hands, and touring the facilities of the Outagamie County Golden Age Home and Mental Hospital.

Charlie Tells Tales About Guardsmen

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The troops of the 32nd National Guard Division return home today. I hope you have a welcome for them.

For my part, I offer these citizen soldiers a sincere salute and a thank you for the courtesy and the hospitality they afford me during my junket with them in the woods of the Camp McCoy reservation.

If anybody needs my judgment of these Wisconsin men — particularly of those from here — about with whom I camped, I have to say this: They're a better outfit than my WW II outfit which was good, and which was well trained, adept, in combat; and together for more than four years.

If you don't know it, that's high praise indeed. I LIKED my outfit.

Here are some odds 'n ends left over from my stay with the 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry:

It is natural for soldiers to complain a bit, mainly to get things off their chests. But one complaint I heard will linger for a while in my memory as one of the most unique I have ever heard. One of the cooks had put together some coffee cake. It was a bit hard because it didn't rise as it was supposed to, but it was good.

One disgruntled soldier picked up his cake, then dropped it into his food tray. He glared at the cake disconsolately for a moment, then said, "Look at that! It doesn't even bounce!"

Citizen soldiers like the men of the 32nd eat heartily, of course. But do you know how heartily?

It is a military fact that such troops require half again as much food as regular Army soldiers. For each member of the Wisconsin National Guard at Camp McCoy there is a full ration-and-a-half of food provided.

This is because most of the citizen-soldiers are unaccustomed to living, sleeping, working in the out of doors and doing the long, hard duties which are part of their training.

The Army knows that after a week of a ration-and-a-half for each man, the appetites fall back to normal and the troops get one ration. This, however, is considerably more than they eat at home. Work is tough, duties are strenuous and appetites are full-sized.

During the stay at Camp McCoy, these Red Arrow men drank 16,000 cartons of milk and 3,300 pounds of coffee. Down the 32nd hatches went 11,200 pounds of bacon, 2,750 pounds of hamburger, 3,200 pounds of hot dogs, 1,300 pounds of pork, 26,400 pounds of beef and 8,000 pounds of chicken.

That's not all. Not counting side dishes, they wolfed 23,000 loaves of bread and 971 cans of jelly. They ate 38,000 individual boxes of cereal, 670 bottles of catsup, 158 jars of mustard and believe it or not, they season their food with 1,645 pounds of salt. Some of this food material bounces though.

The Division has an almost unbelievable record in traffic safety. According to Lt. Col. Joseph Santimays, the Division's provost marshal, the 32nd has not had a fatal automobile or truck accident in a total of 60 million miles of driving.

A sign at the camp gate reads thus: "You are now about to enter the most dangerous area in the world — a public highway."

S/Sgt. Lyle Burt of Route 2, Appleton, told me that when his unit was attacked by tear gas, he put on his gas mask and promptly fell asleep.

Much later he woke up, forgetting his mask was still on his face.

"It was dark," he said, "Everything looked funny and dull and I kept thinking to myself, 'Where the hell am I?'"

S/Sgt. Robert Sauer, mess steward of Charlie Company which is Neenah-based, is filling his father's footsteps, and very well, too. His regular assignment as mess steward is the same his father, Elmer, held for 20 years.

Elmer, who was wounded at New Guinea during WW II, is now retired from military service, but the second generation of the Sauer family cooks on and on for the 32nd.

I noticed that when the troops first went into the field, cussing was at a minimum, an indication that these men generally are not profane. But as the days went by, cursing grew more and more blatant. It is, I suppose, natural if not proper, that when men get away from the restraining influence of home, they tend to "let down the bars."

At any rate, Capt. John Niles of Menasha established a soft rule that anybody using a certain unpleasant word would be fined a nickel. The money would be used later, he said, for a party. At last look, there was 55 cents in the kitty.

During one field class in the arts of using a .30 calibre machine gun, I heard the sergeant instructor say, "Now you take that bolt in your left hand."

Pause.

"No, no! Your OTHER left hand!"

Comes a friendly note from the 4.2 Mortar platoon of Headquarters Co., 127th Infantry. Signed by 10 men, it protested our report that it had been successfully attacked by a guerrilla band.

It demanded an explanation on the grounds that it is a "PROUD platoon" and an alert one, and that it was not damaged as extensively by the aggressor as I had reported.

All right, Sgt. Ronald Merkel, Sgt. Jerry Schneider, Gary Holz, James Murphy, Clarence Beyer, Jr., Richard Tremel, Robert Wilenkamp, Robert Henning, Fred Sprangers, Roger Driessen, you weren't extensively damaged, you are brave, alert and proud. And you have always been known as the BSTD platoon. How do I explain THAT?

Merger Plan Rejected by Co-op Patrons

Nelsonville Dairy Group Won't Join Consolidated Badger

AMHERST — A proposal to consolidate with Badger Consolidated Dairy Cooperative, Shawano, was rejected by a one vote margin at a recent meeting of Farmers Cooperative Dairy Association members.

With a two-thirds majority required to approve the merger, results of the membership ballot were 159 in favor and 81 opposed.

The cooperative creamery, located at Nelsonville is the only dairy cooperative in Portage County and has close ties with of 1954 of Clintonville High Consolidated Badger. Whole School is having a 10-year reunion, milk is shipped from the Nelsonville plant to the Consolidated Badger plant at Wittenberg. The big planning committee re-Shawano based co-op has also ports that it would like to have provided some managerial services sent to it as soon as possible.

Sidney Leppen, local manager, said he presumed the links are Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Witt, with Consolidated Badger would Miss Mary Fischer, Lee Lande, continue despite the vote.

Farmers Co-op dating back to Jim Dopson and Mrs. Audrey 1895-96, has approximately 240 Meister Smith. Mrs. Witt is the patrons, mostly in eastern Portage County.

Officials Show Effectiveness Of Aerial Patrol on U. S. 41

Law Officers, Press Taken on Special Flight

BY JIM GREINER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Effectiveness of aerial patrolling to maintain traffic control along U. S. 41 by the Wisconsin State Patrol was demonstrated to law enforcement officials and the press Thursday afternoon.

Lt. Donald Kennelly, commander of State Patrol District 3, Fond du Lac, and State Patrol Pilot W. J. Plendl, Waunakee, took County Judge James V. Sitter, Winnebago County District Atty. Jack Steinhilber and Winnebago County Sheriff Richard "Bud" Lowell on the flight.

The markings, painted by state highway crews, consist of an airplane silhouette and, 660 feet down the road, a white bar in the plane keeps the speeder straddling the highway center-line. Another similar bar is 660 feet farther down the road.

Sets of markings have been painted in two areas in Fond du Lac County, just north of the Dodge County line: two sections and in Winnebago County, near Oshkosh, and one area in Outagamie County, south of the Brown.

The Fox Valley counties will be the third area in the state County line. Even today the State Patrol plans on having nelly said, "I feel this will be a terrific Sheboygan counties, in addition to the three Fox Valley counties. The patrolling of 41 in Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties is expected to begin before the Fourth of July, Lt. Kennelly said.

The method used to clock vehicles by airplane involves the plane and one or two squad cars.

A vehicle appearing traveling faster than the speed limit is clocked when it crosses the first white marker, either silhouette or cross-bar. When a vehicle crosses the second marker, the patrolman stops the clock.

Then, using a prepared chart, the patrolman reads the speed the vehicle is traveling, finding the elapsed time on a chart and Winnebago County Sheriff Richard "Bud" Lowell on the flight.

The airborne patrolman radios to the nearest squad car on the road the description of the violator, speed and the location of the vehicle. Fox Valley regional planners were told Friday to go back to their law-drafting boards by a study committee of the State Legislative Council.

The suggestion followed a day of testimony — mostly favorable — on a proposed bill which would allow regional planning commissions to cross political boundaries in implementing regional proposals.

Hearing the testimony was the Urban Problems Committee of the Legislative Council. With one exception, testimony was given by representatives of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, sponsors of the proposed legislation.

Main Objections As testimony progressed through the day, three main objections to the measure were raised by the committee:

—It did not state what property would support bond issues that would finance proposed regional planning projects.

—It defined too broadly the powers of the governing body of the planning commission that would be set up by this bill.

—Its governing body would be too large and would not include enough elective officials to provide a check on its actions.

Some committee members also objected the bill was drafted from the Fox Valley's view with little consideration of its statewide implications.

Will Aid Plan Unit The committee, after tossing around several suggestions for further action, agreed to assist the FVRPC in drafting a new version of the proposed legislation to clarify the "vague" wording and to answer the objections.

Presentation of the new draft will be made at a committee hearing scheduled for Sept. 5 in Madison.

Two Appleton men will represent the Urban Problems Committee in helping the commission to rewrite its proposed bill.

They are Harold Froelich, an assemblyman, and George Greisch, a citizen member.

They will join members of the commission staff and commission members in ironing out the details of the revised bill.

One Exception The one exception to the favorable testimony came from comprehensive regional plan Ben Hanneman, representing the Wisconsin Towns Association. He agreed to the bill "in principle" but expressed concern about possible loss of home days are over."

This was the one argument that almost every commission representative tried to answer by pointing out that the bill required a referendum on every regional proposal made. This argument was not satisfactory to the committee which felt that the political aspects of the proposed legislation were unclear.

Some committee members did say they also agreed with the "principle" the commission was proposing — multi-community cooperation for efficient implementation of comprehensive planning — but none expressed complete approval of the proposed legislation as it now stands.

Afternoon Testimony Afternoon testimony came from Walter Rasmussen, Appleton director of planning, who described problems of implementing the planning commission's proposed expressway system.

and Veldor Kopitske, who spoke briefly on the economic aspects of the valley.

Also speaking in favor — with reservations — of the legislation was Andrew Deaman, commissioner of the State Department of Resource Development, who said that some kind of legislation was needed because "we're going to be faced with similar problems as the FVRPC faces in other parts of the state."

Friday morning's statements came were based primarily on the experience of the commission's staff in trying to obtain State's file with the commission.

Powerless under existing legislation to give the owners a firm offer resulted in the commission losing its chance to ever buy the island.

Testimony on this matter came mostly from F. R. Orin, a power company, a commission member and part-spokesman said Friday.

One of the indirect results of the commission's action was a $370,000 reduction approved Thursday by the Federal Power Commission for the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.,

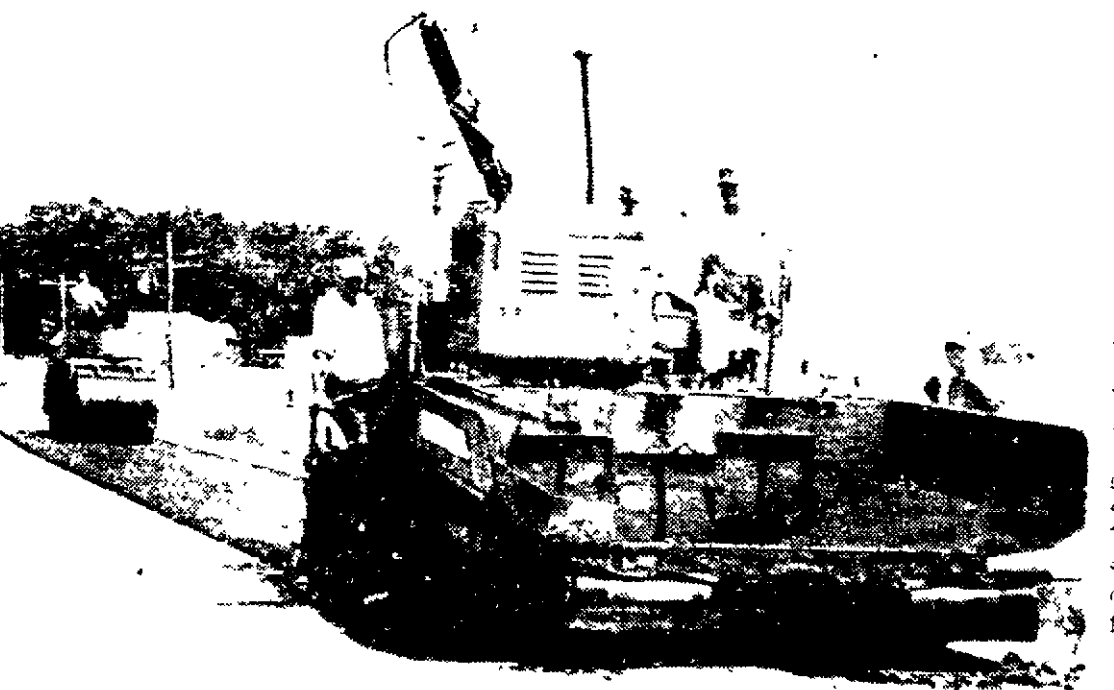

Wisconsin Michigan Gas Prices Will be Reduced Slightly

Natural gas customers of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. can expect a slight reduction in the cost of gas, a power company, a commission member and part-spokesman said Friday.

The cut is the indirect result of a $370,000 reduction approved Thursday by the Federal Power Commission for the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.,

Proposed Bill The hearing was held to hear arguments on a bill now in the state Senate which would give sale supplier to the power company regional planning commissions.

The reduction approved by plan and implement programs the EPC will total $22 million on a regional scale through an excavation line companies, including the One of the committee mem-Detroit-based firm.

St. John Lutheran Church to Celebrate Centennial Sunday

Rural Appleton Congregation To Hold Two Special Services

"One hundred years of grace" at St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church, rural Appleton, will be commemorated in special services Sunday in which three former pastors of the congregation will participate.

From its start with but 15 families, the congregation has grown in 100 years of continuous existence to become a congregation of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod.

The present white, frame building, built in 1893, is on State 47, about seven miles north of Appleton. Its pastor is the Rev. A. C. Meyer, who was installed in September, 1962.

Two services are scheduled for Sunday. The Rev. A. H. Werner, now of Elroy, will deliver the sermon at the 9 a.m. service. Pastor Werner served the congregation from 1920 to 1946.

Rev. A. C. Meyer

At the second service—to be held at 2:30 p.m. following a noon luncheon—the Rev. W. A.

Wojahn, now living in Manitowoc, will give the sermon. Pastor Wojahn headed the congregation from 1957 to 1962, when he retired from the active ministry.

At both services, the liturgy will be led by the Rev. H. W. Bergholz, who was pastor of the congregation from 1946 to 1957. He now is an instructor at Fox Valley Lutheran High School.

A deed dated May 13, 1864, conferring title to a parcel of land to the congregation is the first record of the church. The congregation was not organized formally until Feb. 3, 1868.

The parcel of land which the congregation held was heavily wooded with a few clearings which had been made by settlers. Trees were felled on the land that is the church's present cemetery; the logs were used to build the congregation's first building.

Temporary Pastors After nearly a decade of having only temporary pastors or of sharing them with other congregations, the congregation called the Rev. Philip Sprengling, a member of the Wisconsin Synod, to be the church's first resident pastor.

Under his influence, the church history says, the congregation became "thoroughly" Lutheran. A Lutheran constitution was adopted during his seven-year tenure which ended in 1881.

Pastor Sprengling also organized a parochial school. In 1878, he directed the congregation in building a frame building with a 104-foot steeple to replace the original log building.

This structure stood until 1892, when, an hour before Sunday services were to begin, the church steeple was struck by lightning, and the building burned to the ground.

Present Structure The present structure was built during the next year. Services were given exclusively in the German language until 1916, when the congregation decided to have one evening English-language service per month.

In 1934, the congregation moved to have alternate German and English services, and the next year decided to have German services only on the second and fifth Sundays of the month.

This Church Building Has Been the meeting place for the congregation of St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church in the Town of Center since 1893. The congregation is marking its 100th year in special services Sunday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Many improvements have been to the church since the 30's. The old organ was replaced by an electric organ, stained glass windows were installed, the church was remodeled in 1949, the parsonage was renovated and the roof was recovered with interlocking shingles.

Walter Techlin is chairman of the church council. Other officers include Harvey Mueller, vice chairman; Robert Griffith, secretary; Howard Scham, treasurer; Wilbert Sedo, man and English services, and treasurer (missions and charity services only on the national service).

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

For 20 years, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris has held a unique position in our national life. As chaplain of the United States Senate he has been the spiritual leader of men of all faiths serving in that legislative body.

Each morning Dr. Harris carries on the tradition of opening the session with a prayer. It has been said that those daily prayers have helped bring our leaders together. Four volumes of them have been published as official Senate documents.

Dr. Harris is also one of only three people to win four Valley Forge Foundation awards for "Significant Utterances on Freedom."

In addition to his service in the United States Senate, his writing and lecturing, Dr. Harris served as minister of Foundry Methodist Church in Washington from 1924 until 1935. "For God and Country" can best describe this man whose influence for love and brotherhood has been felt by all who have had contact with him.

OSC Authorized to Award Master's Degree in Music Education

A master of science in music education degree has been authorized for Oshkosh State College, according to Dr. Everett Pyle, dean of the institution's Graduate School.

This is the third masters degree approved for the college within the past several months. The others were a Master of Science in Teaching and a Master of Science in Guidance.

The new degree is primarily designed to serve teachers of music, directors and administrators. A survey of eastern Wisconsin shows strong support for the program, according to Dr. Roger Dennis, chairman of the OSC music department.

Work under the program will begin during the 1964-1965 term—the first graduate offering to be initiated following the institution's conversion to a university on July 1.

Appleton Churches Will Share Facilities

Our Savior Lutheran Sells Property to Baptists but Will Continue to Use It

Two Appleton congregations of acquired usual equipment in a different denominations have announced an agreement to share the same buildings for church services.

The congregation of Our Saviour Lutheran Church has sold its property at 1506-12 N. Meade St. to the Fox River Baptist Church. Under the terms of the sale, the two congregations will share the present chapel for at least a year.

During that time, the Lutheran congregation plans to construct a new church at Florida and Meade streets. The Rev. Ralph Sandgren, pastor of the Lutheran church, hopes to begin construction late this year.

Includes Four Lots Property sold to the Baptist congregation includes the chapel, a house used for Sunday school classes and four additional lots.

Under the agreement, the Lutheran congregation will rent the buildings from the Fox River Baptist Church and use them as long as the Lutheran church schedule does not conflict with that of the Baptist congregation.

Our Saviour's congregation has the option of renewing the rental period, on a monthly basis, up to six months beyond the year's time, if construction of the proposed Lutheran church takes more than a year.

Rented Since Beginning Because the Fox River Baptist Church has been renting worship facilities since its inauguration two years ago, it has not

Shut-In Wiends Phone Like A Club, Neighbor Wants Out

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a shut-in friend who wiends her telephone like a club, holding me a prisoner in my own home as many as three times a day?

I want to be kind to this woman because I know she is pathetically lonely. I do all I can for her, including bringing new friends to her home to fill her empty hours. But the more I give, the more she demands. I find myself becoming increasingly resentful because this person can find happiness only if her mouth is open. Hints don't help.

Is there anything I can do to get her to cut her calls to one a day? She is a little unstable and I don't want to upset her. Thank you.

Landers

wouldn't trade them for all the tea in Ceylon, but this is not the case with you, Bub."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother raised me to believe I was beautiful, brilliant and that I should make a spectacular marriage. Somehow I changed signals on her and married the only man I ever loved. Of course he was the man she hated most. We did not have the grand wedding mother had dreamed of because Dick's parents were not elegant enough and they might pick up the wrong fork at the wedding dinner. We were married in the minister's study and mother wept all through the service. After the ceremony she told me I had broken her heart by making such a poor marriage and that she didn't want to see us again. Dick and I moved out of town.

That was two years ago. Last night my aunt called to tell me mother is not well. I asked if mother had asked her to call. She replied, "no."

Dick is urging me to go home. Should I?

The Disappointment

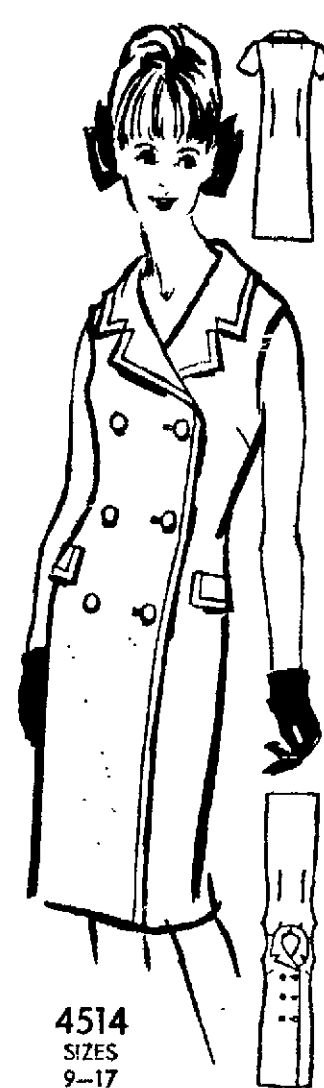

Dear Friend: Yes, you should go home. And soon.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smok- ing," enclosing with your request, 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In many cases West led a trump against four spades. With strength in all of the side suits West was willing to play a waiting game.

Declarer usually drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and then led the queen of diamonds from dummy for a finesse. If West had nerve enough to refuse the trick, well and good. Declarer would repeat the finesse, and West would be in with the king of diamonds.

At this stage, cold technique and good partnership parted company. West should make an inaccurate play to help his partner defeat the contract.

Book Play

The book play for West is the three of hearts. The idea is to get East in with the ace of hearts to return a club through the king.

The trouble with the three of hearts is that East cannot read it perfectly. East may think that South started with Q-x-x. If so, East must return the jack of hearts to defeat the contract. This is just what West does not want.

Instead of leading the three of hearts West should lead the nine. This discourages East from returning a heart. For lack of anything else to do, East will return a club—and this will defeat the contract.

It's a situation in which you must deceive your partner for his own good.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

After removing food from the top section of my double boiler, I always pour the boiling water from the lower section into the emptied top of the boiler and put the lid on! The steam loosens the food, and when clean-up time comes, the vessel is as easy to wash as a plate. No reason to waste that good hot water.

When I boil onions, I make two cuts in opposite directions state that could provide his about one-fourth inch deep in the stem end. This allows the water to get into the center to cook the onion without breaking up the onion itself. It also allows the steam to get into the onion.

I slip one tine of a fork over the end of a slice of bacon and gently roll the fork over. No presidential sweepstakes.

trouble to separate slices by this method.

I keep some cornstarch in a before the Democratic-Farmer-baking powder can (any small jar or can will do) with holes and punched in the top. I use it to dust my rubber gloves before I pull them off inside out. My gloves are all ready for the next wearing and not stuck together at any point.

Frances W.

Dear Heloise:

For you gals who hang shirts out on the line on a windy day, and all the long sleeves curl around the line behind it, try buttoning the left cuff of one sleeve onto the right cuff.

On PJ's that do not have buttons on the cuffs, a safety pin keeps them together.

This keeps them down real straight and makes for easier ironing.

Florence Wells

Dear Heloise:

With picnic time at hand, instead of taking paper napkins along, try using a roll of paper towels in your picnic basket. You will find them much more practical and they will not blow away as easily!

Irena Boothby

Dear Heloise:

Since this is the season of tying and staking flowers and vegetable plants, I would like to offer this trick:

Cut across old nylon hose and make some one-inch strips. Then cut them so that they will open up.

These little pieces of nylon make wonderful tie-ups, have a lot of give, and are very strong, too.

If you use them once, you will always have them on hand. They will not cut your plants and will last through the entire summer.

K. S.

Dear Heloise:

I have five girls and as they spend almost all their summer holiday in shorts, I have found it a great timesaver on ironing days, if I take a few moments when the shorts are first new and stitch the cuffs of the shorts directly to the pants themselves.

When ironing them later, I do not have to straighten the cuff each time so that it will be ironed neatly because it is already in its proper place.

Saves burned fingers, too, as some cuffs can be troublesome to iron.

Johnson Bids For Votes in Minnesota

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson today carries Midwest

vote wooing into Minnesota—a two cuts in opposite directions state that could provide his about one-fourth inch deep in the stem end. This allows the water to get into the center to cook the onion without breaking up the onion itself. It also allows the steam to get into the onion.

McCarthy is up for re-election this year and can count on Johnson's unstinted blessing for a new six-year term regardless of how he fares in the vice-presidential sweepstakes.

Johnson's Minnesota schedule calls for an afternoon speech in a before the Democratic-Farmer-baking powder can (any small jar or can will do) with holes and punched in the top. I use it to dust my rubber gloves before I pull them off inside out. My gloves are all ready for the next wearing and not stuck together at any point.

He will remain overnight in Minneapolis to attend an annual Swedish-American festival at Minnehaha Park there on Sunday.

With an assist from his wife, Johnson put in a bid for Michigan's 21 Electoral College votes in a speech before a $100-a-plate dinner in Detroit Friday night.

The audience included a size-Edison Co. John F. Gordon, able sprinkling of big-name industrialists who ordinarily vote Republican.

Among those at the head table with Johnson, were Henry Ford II, chairman, in a speech before a $100-a-plate dinner in Detroit Friday night.

Cisler, chairman of the Detroit Edison Co., although not at a head table, went up to shake hands efforts to preserve world peace through mutual understanding.

Khrushchev in a brief speech said that during his visit here he has come to see that "the Swedes know how to work and value the fruits of their labor."

He said he was pleased that the talks with Erlander were "held in a frank and friendly atmosphere" and reviewed some of the points of the joint Swedish-Soviet communiqué issued Friday night, including their mutual dedication to peace.

Khrushchev's visit ended with the Swedish government disappointed that he had failed to clear up the mystery of a long-missing Swedish diplomat, but intrigued at the prospect of increasing trade with the Soviet Union.

Wallenberg Case

Erlander issued a statement proclaiming his "strong disappointment that the Soviet government has not felt it could do more" about the case of Raoul Wallenberg, the missing diplomat.

Wallenberg, credited with saving thousands of Jews in Hungary in latter stages of World War II, was arrested by the Red army in Budapest in January 1945.

The Russians said in 1957 that Wallenberg had died in Moscow's Ljubyjanska Prison in July 1947. The Swedish government rejected the explanation.

The men arrested were charged with interfering with and threatening three civil rights workers—two white persons and a Negro—who had been distributing leaflets about a voter registration rally to be held at a Negro church.

The trio, Merriett Ely Randle, 44, James E. Hodges, 27, and Lawrence Neal McGraw, 37, was held in the Oxford, Miss.,

Mississippi, the agency reported the arrest of three white Mississippians on charges of threatening civil rights workers at Ita Bena, about 85 miles from the area where Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney disappeared.

ence the three men—last seen Sunday night—would be found.

"I don't know how long it will take," he added. "It might not be in my lifetime."

Station Wagon

Shortly before the governor's arrival here, the Mississippi Highway Patrol said the blue station wagon used by the trio had been burned at least 12 hours after they vanished.

The charred vehicle used by Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andy Goodman, 20, both of New York City, and James Chaney, 2, Meridian Negro, was located in a lonely area northeast of this town of 5,000 Tuesday.

A highway patrol official said the station wagon had been driven to the spot where it was burned between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday — more than 12 hours after the trio had been escorted out of town by a deputy sheriff after paying a fine for speeding.

Two Persons

Chief Inspector Gwin Cole said two persons had driven past the spot at 11 a.m. Monday and reported the station wagon was not there. Choctaw Indians found the vehicle still smoking at 5 p.m. and stripped two hubcaps from it, Cole said.

In Washington, Dulles told newsmen that Gov. Johnson "seemed to take" his recommendations favorably when he and the President conferred with the governor by phone.

Dulles added he would let Gov. Johnson express his own views and in Jackson the governor later said Mississippi would protect civil rights workers as well as it can.

Crime Rate

"We do not have as much police protection as some states because we haven't needed it," said the governor. "Our crime rate is the second lowest in the nation."

A few hours after Dulles announced his recommendation for beefed-up FBI activity in Mississippi, the agency reported the arrest of three white Mississippians on charges of threatening civil rights workers at Ita Bena, about 85 miles from the area where Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney disappeared.

jail. They are scheduled for arraignment today.

Dulles said it was suspected, although not definitely known, "that there was terroristic activity" against Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney.

Schwerner had been working in the civil rights field in the Meridian area for six months. Goodman was one of the advance guard of an expected 1,000 summer volunteers—mostly college students—to work for Negro vote registration and other rights.

Dulles said he recommended to the President that the groups sponsoring the summer project give clear warning to the volunteers that they face "very, very grave danger" in Mississippi.

More Police Sent To St. Augustine By Gov. Bryant

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) —

Reinforcements arrived today to push to 230 the number of state law enforcement officers stationed in this racially torn city to maintain order.

Gov. Farris Bryant ordered more men after an on-the-scene inspection and conferences with state law officers. "I did not find much progress toward a solution," he said of the racial situation he has called a "clear and present danger."

The vanguard of the new men got their initial test Friday night when hundreds of whites congregated in a downtown square to listen to segregation speeches.

Integrationists staged no public demonstrations Friday for the first time in about three weeks.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held in the Superintendent's Office on Thursday, June 18, 1964, at 7:30 p.m.

Members present: Misses Munro and Helms, Messrs. Summitt and Schneider. Members absent: Messrs. Neils, Whitney and Buchanan.

Also present were: Mayor Clarence A. Juchacz and the following members of the School Advisory Committee: Appleton City Council, Gerald H. Ahrens, Alvin E. Tewes, Frederick S. Ziemann, Howard F. Stump, Arthur E. Mueller.

The purpose of the meeting was outlined by the board president, Mrs. Munro, was to discuss with the School Advisory Committee the question of whether to build in the proposed southeast senior high school an auditorium to seat 750 persons as recommended by the school administration as being adequate for educational purposes, or to consider in addition, community needs requiring expanded seating capacity.

After discussion, a consensus was reached that Architect Raymond LeVee be requested to give an estimate as soon as possible of the costs for an auditorium that would seat 2,500 people.

Mr. Schneider moved adjournment of the meeting. The motion was seconded by Mr. Summitt and carried.

Bureau of Economic Illiteracy

Inability of some federal government agencies to deal effectively with area and local problems has been and continues to be demonstrated by the Bureau of Economic Regulation of the Civil Aeronautics Board. The Bureau (BER), in its testimony to the CAB on the North Central Airlines regional airport investigation, has shown a thorough inability to grasp the roots of the problem of who should get airline service—Appleton or Oshkosh.

Gerald O'Grady, Outagamie County's attorney in Washington, pointed out the BER "changed its mind at least three times on the proposed regional airport for the Appleton - Oshkosh area." During various phases of the long-smoldering air service dispute, the BER favored separate airport service, a regional airport between the two cities to be located near Neenah, and lastly, Oshkosh as a regional airport site. Other proposals by the BER filled in sort of a "gray shading" between its various stands.

What the Bureau wants is a flat principle to apply to each of the 50 states—consolidation and establishment of regional airports all over the United States for cities within 50 miles of each other. No consideration is being given at all to local circumstances.

The BER has recommended that Oshkosh be designated the regional airport for the Appleton-Oshkosh complex of cities; has said that 70 per cent of the airline traffic from the area is boarded at the Winnebago airport in Oshkosh; that 25 per cent of the passengers who now board in Oshkosh would drive to Milwaukee for better service if Appleton was the regional port; and that the elimination of North Central service to Appleton would save the airline $80,000 annually.

The BER's statements are both ludicrous and foolish. First of all, just about every party involved in the hearing has said at sometime or other that there should be a new regional airport between Oshkosh and Appleton—everyone in the hearing, that is, except for Winnebago County. Outagamie County, as early as four years ago, offered to pay 75 per cent of the costs for a new regional airport in Winnebago County southwest of Neenah. Outagamie made the offer as late as last September, but Winnebago officials wouldn't even meet to consider the idea. Since then Winnebago has poured much more money into improving its old airport than their share would have been toward a new regional airport.

The BER says Oshkosh gets 70 per cent of the airline traffic from this area. Oshkosh should! It has 75 per cent of the North Central flights in this area — 12 compared to four daily at the Appleton airport. So actually, while Appleton has only 25 per cent of the flights, it has 30 per cent of the customers!

The Bureau says 25 per cent of the passengers now boarding at the Oshkosh airport would drive to Milwaukee for better service if Appleton was the regional port. The BER obviously has forgotten that North Central Airlines' own poll shows that over 60 per cent of the passengers who board commercial planes at Oshkosh come from the Fox Cities.

And then the BER said North Central could save $80,000 annually by moving its Appleton stops to Oshkosh. Actually, couldn't the airline save hundreds of thousands of dollars if all its Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Clintonville (and everywhere else in the state) stops were consolidated into Milwaukee? The Bureau uses third grade logic.

According to the official 1960 U.S. census, Oshkosh's population was 45,110, while Appleton's was 48,411. But, Oshkosh has no suburbs. The Fox Cities (of which Appleton is the hub) is a continuous metropolitan area from Neenah on the south to Kaukauna on the north. It has a population of 118,745. And during the last two censuses, Appleton's population not only has passed Oshkosh, but is moving toward the point where it eventually will be double its neighbor to the south.

And yet the BER wants a regional airport in Oshkosh, 18 miles to the south of what the Bureau itself earlier called the "ideal location" and "the population hub." We feel certain that the CAB itself won't be swayed by the BER's unbelievably inept case and will go along with the recommendations of its own examiner, Edward T. Stodola, who has recommended that both cities continue to receive North Central Service and that sources of future traffic generation should decide who gets the bulk of future service.

Any other decision would be impossible, if based upon nothing more than the facts.

WASHINGTON — Over the past three years the Defense Department has closed, reduced or declared surplus 550 military installations.

By Defense Department calculations this has resulted in an annual saving of $552 million.

In addition, these actions have produced a manpower saving figured at 81,559 jobs, including 48,835 in the military.

Of the total closed or reduced, 175 are overseas — this being interpreted to include Puerto Rico, Alaska and Hawaii.

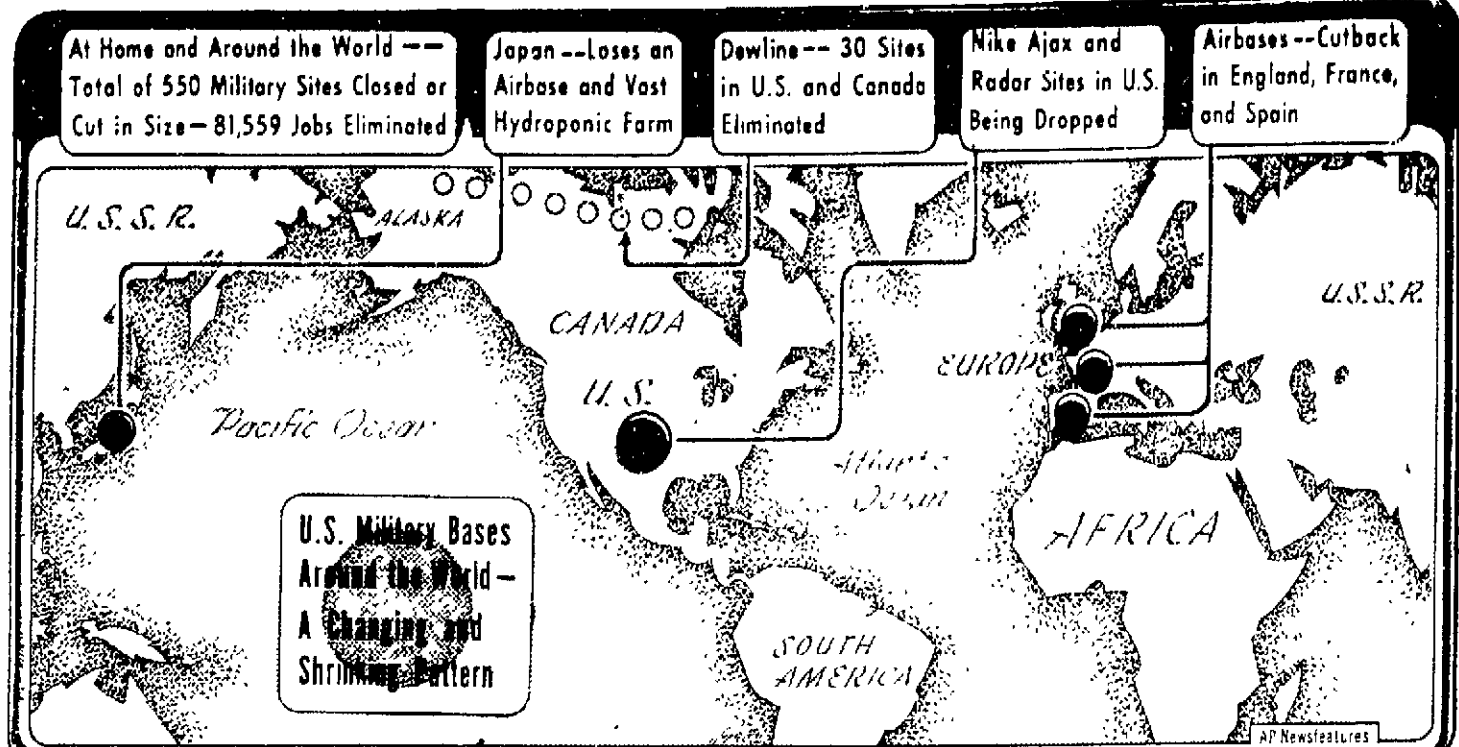

Among the 175 are 15 installations which have yet to be identified.

Among the 550 installations are 51 ordnance plants or reserve machinery plants — designed for reactivation in event of non-nuclear war — which are up for sale to private industry.

Included among the facilities declared excess to the nation's needs are 40 Nike anti-aircraft missile sites. By and large, these are emplacements for the now obsolescent Ajax series — first to go on duty. They have been replaced in the arsenal by the Nike-Hercules missiles.

In general, the actions taken by the Defense Department represent reductions in acreage bought by the government and then found to be in excess of requirements.

SOME ARE OBSOLETE
Some to be given up include installations made obsolete by the changing nature of warfare from aircraft to missiles.

Since April 19, 1963, the Defense Department has announced the inactivation of 30 sites, including 20 in Canada, on the radar network known as the Distant Early Warning Line. (DEW)

The Dowline was set up along the Arctic Circle at a time when United States feared an attack by Soviet bombers. Now the threat is from missiles.

Included on the Dowline were two Texas Towers—offshore radar stations — which also are to be abandoned.

The United States is also giving up many of its so-called gap filler radars. These are automatic radar systems, usually emplaced on about an acre of land, which feed into manned systems and cover remote areas between the larger radar screens. These gap fillers were part of the anti-aircraft network. They are still in operation in Florida — 90 miles from Communist Cuba.

Perhaps the most unusual installation to be given up is the Chofu Hydroponic Farm outside Tokyo. It covered 124,000 acres.

The farm was used to grow vegetables in chemical solutions for servicemen overseas.

It was established shortly after the occupation of Japan to provide vegetables for U.S. servicemen which could NOT be purchased in Japan.

It was used to capacity during the Korean war.

Included in the latest list of installations to be closed are two airbases in England — Fairford and Greenham Common. France lost four—Etien, Chaumont, Chambley and Phalsburg. Japan lost one — Itazuke — and so did Spain — Zaragoza.

The Air Force is also moving out of North Africa, giving up five bases in Morocco alone. This was done chiefly at the request of the host country. In any event, the bases were used mostly for the now obsolescent B-47 bombers, except for the naval ordnance facility at Port Lyautey.

In explaining the basis for the actions, the Defense Department said:

"Considerations which led to the actions were:

"Changes in weapons systems, organization structure and supply management concepts have reduced the need for some facilities. As a result workloads at some facilities can be redistributed to other more modern and efficient installations to save personnel and overhead costs."

Democrats Have Lots Going for Them in Fall But There Are Hazards

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — If the Democratic state convention delegates were fairly representative of the psychology of the party as a whole, there is a certain complacency creeping into the organization.

It may be that its workers are reading too many polls, rather than the historical record of Wisconsin elections. For at one point during the proceedings in Milwaukee, Chairman Louis Hansen felt obliged to make a little speech warning about overconfidence. Because most working Democrats are convinced that President Johnson will be re-elected easily, they are inclined to believe that he will carry other candidates on his ticket with him, including Gov. Reynolds and the state ticket. Most Democrats are also convinced, or say they are convinced, that the nomination of Sen. Goldwater by the Republicans will be a substantial gain to themselves and will weaken the Republican state ticket and the Wisconsin Republican campaign generally.

Wyngaard

which in an early assessment, at least, must be ranked as the favorite to win the national election.

The party has managed to resolve, or to put out of sight, the factional divisions which threatened its effectiveness only six months ago. Partly because it has won control of the executive department and has elected more of its candidates lately, in numerical terms the campaign organization is stronger than ever before. Indeed, an outsider at a state party convention nowadays finds himself reflecting how thin the attendance would be if all the public payroll representatives were absent.

BUT . . .

Yet there are some debits in the ledger for the party also. There is the historical tendency of the Republicans of the state to bring out more votes in presidential election years. There is the fact that the Democrats are having extreme difficulties in recruiting candidates for some of the positions — including a few congressional positions — where Republicans appear to be so well established as to provide very little temptation to Democratic hopefuls.

The Republican state organization has apparently been improved in numerical terms too, and more important, it can devote its campaign chest this year to the exclusive purpose of electing its chosen slate, without wasteful dispersion of funds in primary election struggles. Not even the most biased Democrat can deny, moreover, that the Republicans have put together a comparatively strong slate — considering the history of Republican tickets during the last decade and a half or more.

Finally, the Democrats have the irritating prospect of a primary election contest for governor, for the first time in a long time Dominic Frinzi of Milwaukee is not likely to pose any threat to Gov. Reynolds' second term nomination candidacy in literal terms. But the situation provides an opportunity for a protest vote against the state administration that may be embarrassing. The primary is "open." Republicans can vote in it, and some of them doubtless will where there are no important nomination contests in their own column.

Looking Backward
Grant Stymied in Washington

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 2, 1864.

While we have not been among those sanguine spirits who have looked forward with confidence for the fall of Richmond by July 4 (having never since the campaign began anticipated the capture of that city earlier than the first of September), we must confess we have not been prepared for the severe losses inflicted upon us by rebel forces.

It is safe to say that the Army of the Potomac has been depleted over 100,000 in killed, wounded, prisoners or disabled men, since the campaign began with the battle in the "Wilderness."

The administration compelled Grant to take the circuitous route by land to attain McClellan's chosen ground on the James River because there was a stolid determination not to adopt a single plan or route originated by that distinguished officer (Gen. Grant), no matter at what cost of life or delay to the campaign.

The same spirit led the President to refuse Grant's request to assign McClellan and Fremont to the command of the Army Corps or Divisions under his command and to persist in sending Butler into the field over such military chieftains as "Baldy" Smith and Gilmore.

That round-about trip to the James River cost us 80,000 men and inflicted no stunning loss to the enemy.

Indeed, it is quite apparent that Lee is as bold, defiant and full of resource as he was at the outset of the campaign.

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, June 24, 1939.

A canoe trip of 50 miles on the Wolf River was completed by Jack Meyer and Wesley Kiley, both 16, of Clintonville. The youths put their craft in the river at Clintonville and paddled or drifted downstream for three days to reach Shiocton. They camped overnight and ate their meals ashore, traveling during daylight hours.

bers of the general committee included Mr. and Mrs. Otto Polzin, Mrs. Nick Zylstra. In charge of games were Robert Luebke, Mrs. Erben Krueger, Miss Harriet Boettcher and Miss Buda May.

William Mielke and Stephen L. Root, both of Appleton, were attending summer school - camp at Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn.

A. H. Wickesberg was to become the chairman of the board of the Appleton Woolen Mills July 1. He had been general manager and treasurer of the firm and was to be succeeded in those posts by F. H. Orblison as general manager and Charles P. Heeter as treasurer. Wickesberg joined the firm in 1902.

Is There a Right to Travel?

The United States Supreme Court, by a vote to three vote, has declared unconstitutional one section of the Subversive Activities Control Act. This is only one of several cases involving passports and the right of Americans to travel which the Court must eventually decide.

This particular case involved an appeal by two Communist Party members, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and Herbert Aptheker, to the decision of a Washington district court that the denial of passports to Communist Party members was a reasonable protection against "the threat posed by the world Communist movement."

The majority opinion, written by Justice Arthur Goldberg, said that the section of the act which denies passports "too broadly and indiscriminately restricts the right to travel and thereby abridges the liberty guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment." But Goldberg also pointed out that since freedom of association is guaranteed by the First Amendment, "restrictions imposed upon the right to travel cannot be dismissed by asserting that the right could be fully exercised if the individual would first yield up his membership in a given association."

This latter remark would seem to be in direct opposition to the earlier Supreme Court decision upholding the act's requirement that members of the Communist Party must register with the government. By giving up membership they would not be subject to such regulation which they have

City Parking Commission

Creation of a parking commission for the city of Appleton is now in the works and will mark another step forward in the modernization of municipal government to handle the ever-expanding problems of a rapidly growing urban area.

The ordinance establishing the commission to govern the city's parking facilities was framed after considerable study by a number of governmental bodies and has now passed its first reading before the council. The commission shall be composed of the mayor, who will be its chairman, one member of the Public Safety Committee of the Council, and two citizen members. The other three members will be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the council. It is provided that members shall be free of "conflict of interest." The Traffic Engineer and the Director of Finance shall serve as advisors to the commission.

The alternative to a parking commission would have been a parking utility, which would have more autonomy. Such a plan is used in Green Bay and several other Wisconsin cities. But a utility structure also has some disadvantages and it was felt the commission-type body was more suitable to Appleton at this time.

There has been no opposition expressed to the ordinance setting up the commission and the prospects now are that it should be operated by Aug. 1 or thereabouts.

As the operations of a city grow the council is wise to delegate supervision of various problems such as parking to other bodies

Lesson to be Learned from the War in Viet Nam

From The Nelson Ridge Advocate

As some of our leading military tacticians often have reminded us, the weapons needed to fight global war between great powers, with the swift destruction of great bases, sea and aerial fleets, cities and even whole populations as its goal, may not be useful at all in a "brush fire" war such as that being fought in South Viet Nam. It is a jungle war of infiltration and ambush, with troops moving along trails invisible from the air and with no definable front, with friend and foe almost indiscernible intermingled. It will be won or lost by the age-old tactics and strategy of guerrilla warfare and the outcome will depend more on the will of the Vietnamese to defend their liberty than on any other single factor.

Bruce Brown's Latest Surfing Film Premieres

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bruce Brown, the man who produced "Slippery When Wet," "Barefoot Adventure" and "Waterlogged," presented the world premiere of his latest film "The Endless Summer" this week.

Haven't heard of Bruce Brown or any of those films? You must be an earthbound square, man. Any holdover (surfing bug) knows that Bruce Brown is to surfing what John Ford is to Westerns, what Michaelangelo was to ceiling painters.

"The Endless Summer" has sold out four nights this week at the Encore Theater where audiences of tanned, taffy-haired young people and a few elderly types have gasped and cheered at surfers skidding down Matterhorn-like waves on foam-and-fibre glass boards. It is the sixth annual film of cludes "The World of Shalom Brown, who went around the world to shoot two young surfers in Senegal, Ghana and other places that had never seen a surfboard.

Brown, 26, and blond, has been riding the crest of the "Medea-Act II" will also be surfing craze that has become a religion for thousands of California teen - agers. Through Susan Mulhern, 1906 Washington St., New Holstein.

Telephone Company Product Artificial Larynx Helps Voiceless Man to Talk

An Appleton man was told able to use his new "voice" several months ago that he must give up his speech or give up his life. The decision was his.

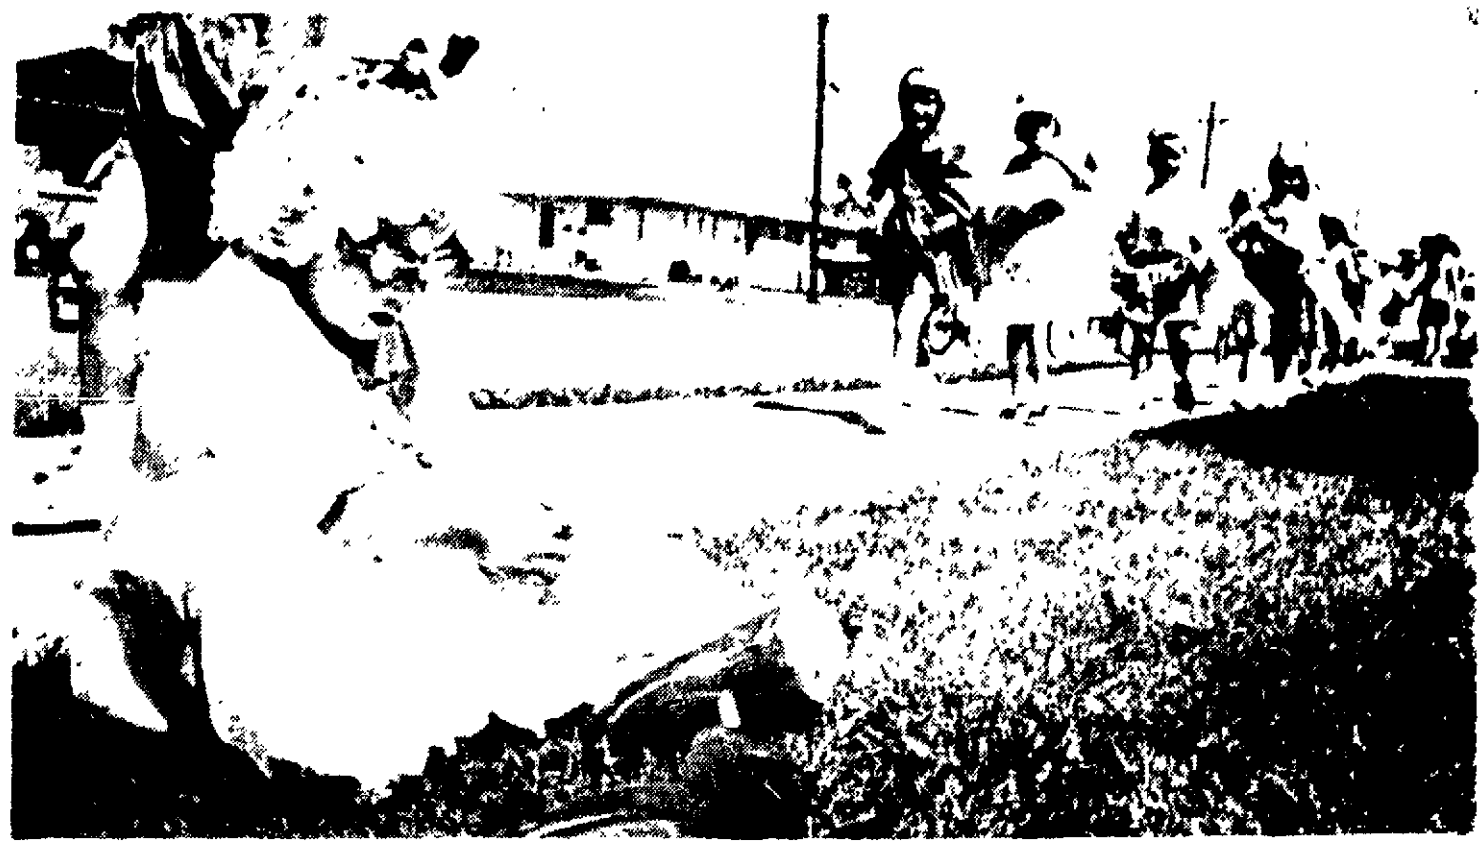

"What good is my life without the ability to speak? How can I go on with such a handicap?"

These were but a few of the questions that penetrated Carl Van Ryzin's mind when he was told he had cancer of the throat. "You must have an operation to save your life... but we can't save your ability to speak," the doctor told him.

That was in January of this year. Today, Van Ryzin, 500 E. Roosevelt St., has both his life and his speech — with the aid of the Wisconsin Telephone Company. Last March, the telephone company announced the introduction of an improved artificial larynx which provides a "voice" for the voiceless.

Dr. John H. Russell noticed an artificial larynx in the Post-Crescent and suggested that Van Ryzin try the instrument.

Charlie Tells Tales About Guardsmen

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The troops of the 32nd National Guard Division return home today. I hope you have a welcome for them.

For my part, I offer these citizen soldiers a sincere salute and a thank you for the courtesy and the hospitality they afford me during my junket with them in the woods of the Camp McCoy reservation.

If anybody needs my judgment of these Wisconsin men — particularly of those from here — about with whom I camped, I have to say this: They're a better outfit than my WW II outfit which was good, and which was well trained, adept, in combat; and together for more than four years.

If you don't know it, that's high praise indeed. I LIKED my outfit.

Here are some odds 'n ends left over from my stay with the 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry:

It is natural for soldiers to complain a bit, mainly to get things off their chests. But one complaint I heard will linger for a while in my memory as one of the most unique I have ever heard. One of the cooks had put together some coffee cake. It was a bit hard because it didn't rise as it was supposed to, but it was good.

One disgruntled soldier picked up his cake, then dropped it into his food tray. He glared at the cake disconsolately for a moment, then said, "Look at that! It doesn't even bounce!"

Citizen soldiers like the men of the 32nd eat heartily, of course. But do you know how heartily?

It is a military fact that such troops require half again as much food as regular Army soldiers. For each member of the Wisconsin National Guard at Camp McCoy there is a full ration-and-a-half of food provided.

This is because most of the citizen-soldiers are unaccustomed to living, sleeping, working in the out of doors and doing the long, hard duties which are part of their training.

The Army knows that after a week of a ration-and-a-half for each man, the appetites fall back to normal and the troops get one ration. This, however, is considerably more than they eat at home. Work is tough, duties are strenuous and appetites are full-sized.

During the stay at Camp McCoy, these Red Arrow men drank 16,000 cartons of milk and 3,300 pounds of coffee. Down the 32nd hatches went 11,200 pounds of bacon, 2,750 pounds of hamburger, 3,200 pounds of hot dogs, 1,300 pounds of pork, 26,400 pounds of beef and 8,000 pounds of chicken.

That's not all. Not counting side dishes, they wolfed 23,000 loaves of bread and 971 cans of jelly. They ate 38,000 individual boxes of cereal, 670 bottles of catsup, 153 jars of mustard and believe it or not, they season their food with 1,645 pounds of salt. Some of this food material bounces though.

The Division has an almost unbelievable record in traffic safety. According to Lt. Col. Joseph Santimays, the Division's provost marshal, the 32nd has not had a fatal automobile or truck accident in a total of 60 million miles of driving.

A sign at the camp gate reads thus: "You are now about to enter the most dangerous area in the world — a public highway."

S/Sgt. Lyle Burt of Route 2, Appleton, told me that when his unit was attacked by tear gas, he put on his gas mask and promptly fell asleep.

Much later he woke up, forgetting his mask was still on his face.

"It was dark," he said, "Everything looked funny and dull and I kept thinking to myself, 'Where the hell am I?'"

S/Sgt. Robert Sauer, mess steward of Charlie Company which is Neenah-based, is filling his father's footsteps, and very well, too. His regular assignment as mess steward is the same his father, Elmer, held for 20 years.

Elmer, who was wounded at New Guinea during WW II, is now retired from military service, but the second generation of the Sauer family cooks on and on for the 32nd.

I noticed that when the troops first went into the field, cussing was at a minimum, an indication that these men generally are not profane. But as the days went by, cursing grew more and more blatant. It is, I suppose, natural if not proper, that when men get away from the restraining influence of home, they tend to "let down the bars."

At any rate, Capt. John Niles of Menasha established a soft rule that anybody using a certain unpleasant word would be fined a nickel. The money would be used later, he said, for a party.

At last look, there was 55 cents in the kitty.

During one field class in the arts of using a .30 calibre machine gun, I heard the sergeant instructor say, "Now you take that bolt in your left hand."

Pause.

"No, no! Your OTHER left hand!"

Comes a friendly note from the 4.2 Mortar platoon of Headquarters Co., 127th Infantry. Signed by 10 men, it protested our report that it had been successfully attacked by a guerrilla band.

It demanded an explanation on the grounds that it is a "PROUD platoon" and an alert one, and that it was not damaged as extensively by the aggressor as I had reported.

All right, Sgt. Ronald Merkel, Sgt. Jerry Schneider, Gary Holz, James Murphy, Clarence Beyer, Jr., Richard Tremel, Robert Wilk, Robert Henning, Fred Sprangers, Roger Driessen, you weren't extensively damaged, you are brave, alert and proud. And you have always been known as the BSTD platoon. How do I explain THAT?

OSHKOSH — Wilbur Fuller, was named as the first juvenile officer of the Winnebago County Sheriff's Department, by the sheriff and coroner committee Friday afternoon.

The post becomes effective Wednesday and he will have the rank of sergeant.

Fuller has been a county policeman and for the last year has been working primarily in investigation work, rather than on traffic patrol duties. He had been assigned to investigation work at the time of the Wayne C. Pratt murder to assist Lt. Richard Guenther in that, and other investigations.

Lately, he has been handling much of the investigation work where juveniles are involved and assisting the juvenile judge in the disposition of some of these cases where restitution is to be made.

The juvenile officer post was created by the Winnebago County Board last week and was recommended by Juvenile Court judge James Sarres, Sheriff Richard T. "Bud" Lowell, Dist. Atty Jack Steinhilber and Welfare Director Norman Whitford.

The Sheriff and Coroner Committee also named Le Roy Luft to be radio operator. He will and fall succeed George Mc Guinness, who is returning to traffic patrol.

Luft is a former edition of the "Jackson Citizen-County police sergeant who re-Patriot" and the other is set for signed two years ago to take the "Publisher's Auxiliary" other employment and is now 100th anniversary series.

Legislative Study Group Says Proposed Measure Too 'Vague' In Terms of Political Control

BY PATRICK MCELHINNEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley regional planners were told Friday to go back to their law-drafting boards by a study committee of the State Legislative Council.

The suggestion followed a day of testimony — mostly favorable — on a proposed bill which would allow regional planning commissions to cross political boundaries in implementing regional proposals.

Hearing the testimony was the Urban Problems Committee of the Legislative Council. With given by representatives of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, sponsors of the proposed legislation.

As testimony progressed through the day, three main objections to the measure were raised by the committee:

—It did not state what property would support bond issues that would finance proposed regional planning projects.

—It defined too broadly the powers of the governing body of the planning commission that would be set up by this bill.

—Its governing body would be too large and would not include enough elective officials to provide a check on its actions.

Some committee members also objected the bill was drafted from the Fox Valley's view with little consideration of its statewide implications.

Will Aid Plan Unit The committee, after tossing around several suggestions for further action, agreed to assist the FVRPC in drafting a new version of the proposed legislation to clarify the "vague" wording and to answer the objections.

Presentation of the new draft will be made at a committee hearing scheduled for Sept. 5 in Madison.

Two Appleton men will represent the Urban Problems Committee in helping the commission to rewrite its proposed bill. They are Harold Froelich, an assemblyman, and George Greisch, a citizen member.

They will join members of the commission staff and commission members in ironing out the details of the revised bill.

One Exception The one exception to the favorable testimony came from Ben Hanneaman, representing the Wisconsin Towns Association. He agreed to the bill "in principle" but expressed concern about possible loss of home rule.

This was the one argument that almost every commission representative tried to answer by pointing out that the bill required a referendum on every regional proposal made. This argument was not satisfactory to the committee which felt that the political aspects of the proposed legislation were unclear.

Some committee members did say they also agreed with the "principle" the commission was proposing — multi-community cooperation for efficient implementation of comprehensive planning — but none expressed complete approval of the proposed legislation as it now stands.

Afternoon testimony came from Walter Rasmussen, Appleton director of planning, who described problems of implementing the planning commission's proposed expressway system, and Veldor Kopitske, who spoke briefly on the economic aspects of the valley.

Also speaking in favor — with reservations — of the legislation was Andrew Deaman, commissioner of the State Department of Resource Development, who said that some kind of legislation was needed because "we're going to be faced with similar problems (as the FVRPC faces) in other parts of the state."

Use of social security cards as identification for the cashing of personal checks is not only incorrect but contrary to their purpose, the social security district office in Appleton says.

A police officer called at the office recently to query such use as noted by various city merchants. Store personnel had accepted social security cards as identification when cashing personal checks, and the policeman wanted to know if a person might be located by address through use of the card's number.

He was told no. Address records are not maintained on a current basis by the Social Security Administration. Furthermore, such use of social security records is prohibited by law since an individual's records are confidential.

Many social security cards bear the legend, "For Social Security and Tax Purposes—Not for Identification." Those issued early in the program are not so worded.
